ARCH to Honor Jessie Aikman with Heritage Award

ROLLINSFORD & SOUTH BERWICK, ME -

The Association for Rollinsford Culture and History (ARCH) will honor a longtime supporter, the late Jessie Aikman of Rollinsford, with the 2023 ARCH Heritage Award, given annually to recognize those who have made significant contributions to the preservation of the history, heritage, and culture of Rollinsford and the lower Salmon Falls region. The award will be presented to her family at the ARCH dinner and auction on Saturday, November 18 at Spring Hill in South Berwick, ME munity were stunned and saddened by the untimely passing a few months ago of Aikman, who died from injuries received in a riding accident. Personally and as the owner of Back Channel Canvas, a business located in Eliot, ME, Aikman was a steadfast supporter of ARCH and the historic Colonel Paul Wentworth House. She was a significant donor to the initial capital campaign to return the Wentworth House to Rollinsford, and also sponsored the organization's annual fundraising event every year since 2009. A resident of the Sligo area of Rollinsford and, like her mother Robin who passed just two weeks after Jessie, she was a strong advocate for conserving Rollinsford's rural and agricultural heritage.

"We will miss Jessie's friendship and support, but more importantly, her spirit which was an inspiration to us all," said Nancy Dickinson, co-president of the ARCH Board of Directors.

A nonprofit organization dedicated to preserving the history and heritage of Rollinsford and the lower Salmon Falls region, ARCH maintains the circa 1701 Wentworth House as an educational and cultural center for the community. Portsmouth Restores Phone Booth Gifted in 1984

PORTSMOUTH -

Since 1984 a British phone booth, or 'phone box' as the iconic structure is known in the UK, has stood at the back door of what is now the home of the Portsmouth Historical Society. A gift from Portsmouth, NH's Friendship City of Portsmouth, England, delivered by the HMS Sirius, the phone box had deteriorated from the effects of weather and vandalism over the past 39 years. It seemed appropriate in 2023, as Portsmouth is celebrating the 400th anniversary of European settlement, to spruce cant shipping costs and delay, the Department of Public Works (DPW) decided to order the needed authentic parts and to restore the box here. A completely new phone box from England was considered, but the city wanted to preserve whatever historical provenance it could in the original gift. The phone box was carefully wrapped in plastic and transported to the DPW shop where many hours of dedicated craftsmanship and original parts have gone into the restoration.

The scope of work, according to the proposal, included preserving the original HMS Sirius ship's crest on the interior wall, removing glass and remaining fittings, sandblasting, multiple coats of paint, reglazing the booth with safety glass in glazing frames, installing a push/ pull safety glass panel, and restoring the hinges and door pull handle.

The Portsmouth Historical Society will be responsible for posting the arts and culture information that will be displayed in the restored, lighted. phone box at its new location in front of the historical society, at 10 Middle Street, instead of at the back - where it is much more visible and secure.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held in October to unveil the repaired box, and included remarks from Mayor Deaglan McEachern and Assisup the reminder of Portsmouth, England's friendship.

The city considered sending the phone box back to Unicorn Manufacturing, Ltd., the UK manufacturer of the traditional cast iron structures. Rather than incur the signifitant Mayor Joanna Kelley. The historical society invited attendees to light refreshments, special footage from the 1984 delivery of the phone booth, and a curator tour of "A Sense of Place: an exhibition to accompany a 'History of Portsmouth NH in 101

Objects'."

Clothing Library Kicks Off with a Fashion Show

DOVER -

The Clothing Library at the Dover Public Library provides clothing to borrow for free, just like a traditional library, but instead of books you can check out fashion! Partnering with the library as their pilot, the Clothing Library serves the community's unique needs and aims to address the negative ecological and social impacts of overproduction of the fashion industry by keeping existing clothing circulation longer. Less is more, so "borrow not buy!"

Join the launch on Friday, December 1 at 6 p.m. for a fashion show featuring librarians who will strut their stuff in secondhand clothing! Pre-registration is required to attend.

The Clothing Library will be held in the lecture hall at Dover Public Library, 73 Locust Street, on Sundays, December 3, 10, 17 and January 7, 14, 21, 1-5 p.m. and Mondays, December 4, 11, 18 and January 8, 22, 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. For details, call 603-516-6050 or visit http://library.dover. nh.gov.

Rockingham Choral Society to Perform "A Star Still Shines"

EXETER -

The Rockingham Choral Society (RCS) will perform two holiday concerts at 3 p.m. on Saturday, December 2 and Sunday, December 3, at Christ Church Episcopal, 43 Pine St., Exeter.

The program will feature "A Winter Day" by Sarah Quartel; "Carols and Lullabies: Christmas in the Southwest" by Conrad Susa; "O Come all Ye Faithful" arranged by Dan Forrest; "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" arranged by Dan Forrest; and "What Sweeter Music" by Michael Fink. The choir will also perform a selection of short early-American pieces including some first published in Exeter, including "Lovely Vine" by Benjamin Parker, and "Slow Traveler" by Jeremiah Ingalls.

"'A Winter Day' celebrates the long Canadian winter and features sumptuous writing for choir, cello, and piano, while carols and lullabies have an accompanying ensemble of harp, classical guitar, and marimba," said Kristofer Johnson, RCS director. "It's particularly exciting to be able to perform a selection of pieces with roots in Exeter."

Since 1957, the RCS has expanded cultural experiences by performing choral masterpieces, and is comprised of more than 95 members from the seacoast. Director Johnson is also the director of choirs at Phillips Exeter Academy. Accompanying the choir is Jeannie Goodwin, a professional accompanist who maintains an active piano studio.

Tickets are $20 for adults, $18 for seniors and students, and available at www.rockinghamchoral.org. Day-of tickets are subject to availability.

The Friday, December 1, 5-8 p.m. opening showcases resident Button Factory artists only, while Saturday, December 2 and Sunday, December 3, 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. hosts visiting guest artists as well.

The Button Factory Studios are located at 855 Islington St., Portsmouth, across from Plaza 800, Hannaford Supermarket, and Bank of America. For more information, visit www.buttonfactorystudios.com.

An original thoughtprovoking play, "Granite State Proud," written and directed by Bretton Reis, is performing at the

Players' Ring Theatre through

PORTSMOUTH -

November 19. Reis is not new to the Players' Ring, where in recent years, he premiered his acclaimed adaptation of Mary Shelley's "Frankenstein" and starred as Paul in "Barefoot in the Park." His production of "Marat/Sade" won Spotlight Awards for Best Play and Best Director.

"Granite State Proud" chronicles one man's slide into extremism in northern New Hampshire against the backdrop of a labor strike, and aims to inspire deep, and perhaps difficult, conversations about the roots of hate.

This world-premiere drama is a complex story woven of strained loyalties, crumbling households, and rage, building to a stirring climax. The play features a superlative sevenmember cast of Seacoast-based artists: Taryn Herman, Sam Smith, Matthew Schofield, Jacob Zentis, Christian Arnold, Griffinn Gower and Billy Butler.

'This has been the most mentally taxing project I've ever worked on," Reis said. "It has kept me awake most nights for the past year. I've agonized over everything from comma placements and word choices to ethical dilemmas and the implementation of particular modes of political theatre theory."

As to the "why," Reis said that two pivotal questions demanded exploration: "How do we learn politics? That is, what determining factors herd us to our particular sets of sociopolitical beliefs?" he posed. "And, what does effective political theatre look like in 2023? How can it avoid 'preaching to the choir' in an increasingly divided society?"

Reis went on to cite morbid curiosity, a craving for radical empathy, and his own experiences with anti-Semitism as motivations.

"Granite State Proud" is only suitable for mature audiences. It includes violence, racist, homophobic, transphobic, ableist language, pervasive strong language, and adult themes.

"The play dives into the live-wire world of right-wing extremism. Our list of content warnings is long, so attend with care," Reis said. "We expect disparate reactions: it may make you laugh or cry, it may upset you, or be discomfiting at times. This is scary for us artists, too, but we feel compelled to investigate. We tell the story; we don't know the answers to the questions it may pose; and if the piece is effective, the audience won't leave with any answers either."

Set and lighting design is by Reis himself; costume design is by Emma Cashman; intimacy coordination as well as equity, diversion, and inclusion context by Maddie Roth; and stage management by Sara Martin.

There will be an optional talk-back with the audience after each performance. Shows are held Fridays at 7:30 p.m., Saturdays at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., and Sundays at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $28 for general admission, and $25 for seniors (over 65) and students. Pontine Theatre Presents "A New England Christmas" 100 Market Gallery's Winter Artists

Each season, Pontine Theatre's artistic directors ring in the holiday season by staging a selection of stories and poems by New England authors. This year, they have chosen an original adaptation of Frank Stockton's "Captain Eli's Best Ear," the story of a widowed sea captain who cleverly engineers his Christmas celebrations to get him his heart's desire – a new family!

The production is performed by Artistic Directors Marguerite Mathews and Greg Gathers, and features a cast of Bunraku-style puppets created by Gathers. Live seasonal music is also provided by Ellen Carlson and Melissa Caron, directors of the New Hampshire Fiddle Ensemble.

Following the performance, the audience is invited to sample homemade Christmas cookies donated by friends and supporters of Pontine Theatre.

Shows run through December 3, and are offered at 7 p.m. on Fridays, 3 p.m. on Saturdays, and 2 p.m. on Sundays. Tickets are available at www.pontine. org and the 1845 Plains Schoolhouse Theatre, 1 Plains Ave., Portsmouth. For more information, call 603-436-6660 or email info@pontine.org.

PORTSMOUTH -

100 Market Gallery is currently featuring artists, Carson Jackson, William Turner, and Corey Cain, through mid-April.

Carson Jackson is an abstract painter who creates vibrant blues and imaginative shapes with soulful colors and distinctive lines. Oil painter William Turner creates fall and winter scenes of snow, horse-drawn carriages, and antique trucks in colorful foliage. Corey Cain is a photographer showing a limited number of framed fine-art photographs from the fall season.

Gallery curator, artist, and photographer Annette Brennan shows her work throughout the year as well. Her present work is a variety of seaside and nautical photographs on canvas, some highlighting the fall and winter seasons.

The gallery, located at 100 Market St., Portsmouth, is a commission-free gallery devoted to expanding the public's awareness of the high caliber of artists and artwork that reside and thrive within New England. Artists are chosen through a juried process with seasonal exhibitions rotating every three months. For more information, visit www.100market.comor call 207-361-7600.

Winners Announced at SAA Members Awards Show

EXETER -

The Seacoast Artist Association (SAA) has announced the winners of their Annual Awards show held at the town hall in Exeter. These were chosen from more than 100 entries.

This year's juror was architect Tom Emerson of StudioB-E Architecture, a small design firm in Kittery, ME. He is a graduate of the School of Architecture & Planning at the Catholic University of America in Washington, DC. In addition to practicing architecture, Emerson has been a guest lecturer, design studio critic, and thesis advisor at several university architectural schools.

First place went to photographer Dave Saums for his photograph on canvas, "Super Power Retired, Napa Valley." His winning shot was taken with Kodachrome 25 transparency film. Saums has been a member of the SAA since 2010 and is the proprietor of Mountains-ofthe-Sky Photography Gallery in Amesbury, MA.

Second place went to Laura Cassinari King, of North Hampton, for her oil and cold wax painting, "Summer Sizzle." Bill Mensching, of Exeter, won third place for his oil, "Morning Reflection." Two honorable mentions awards went to Lynn Krumholz, of Chester, for her oil and cold wax painting, "Quiet Moment," and to Doris Rice, of North Hampton, for her saturated watercolor, "Bouquet in Red."

Seacoast Artist Association is located at 130 Water St., Exeter. For more information, visit www.seacoastartist.org or call 603-778-8856.

Annual Contemporary Abstract Exhibition at The Art Center

DOVER -

The Art Center is thrilled to announce the opening of its highly anticipated Annual Contemporary Abstract Exhibition, featuring a dynamic collection of works by more than 40 talented artists. The exhibit, on display through December 31, includes paintings, collages, mixed media, printmaking, photography, and sculptures.

The showcase highlights the extraordinary talents of both emerging and established artists, focusing on seacoast favorites who have significantly contributed to the local art scene. Among the featured artists are Tim Gilbert, Joe Flaherty, Beth Wittenberg, Dawn Boyer, Rebecca Klementovich, Maria "Pep" Manalang, Brian Wagoner, aka Bunkt, and Brooke Lambert.

To mark the opening of the exhibition, The Art Center invites the community to join a "Celebration for the Arts" on Saturday, December 2, 6-9 p.m. This event offers an opportunity to engage with the artists, gain insight into their creative process, and celebrate the thriving arts community.

The Art Center is located at 1 Washington St., Suite 1177, Dover. For more more information, visit www.theartcenteronlinegallery.com or call 603-241-2713. Image above by Peter Cady.

LUSINI ESSI (TERINA INCEP Disaster Loans HRCU Awards $13,000 in Available for Freeze Scholarships to Area Students STATEWIDE -East.

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) recently announced that Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) are available in New Hampshire for small businesses, small agricultural cooperatives, small businesses engaged in aquaculture, and most private nonprofit organizations affected by the freeze that occurred on May 17-18.

The declaration covers the primary counties of Belknap, Cheshire, Grafton, Hillsborough, Merrimack, Rockingham, Strafford, and Sullivan; and the contiguous counties of Carroll and Coos in New Hampshire; York in Maine; and a few in Massachusetts and Vermont. "When the Secretary of Agriculture issues a disaster declaration to help farmers recover from damages and losses to crops, the Small Business Administration issues a declaration to eligible entities, affected by the same disaster," said Kem Fleming, director of SBA's Field Operations Center

Under this declaration, the SBA's Economic Injury Disaster Loan program is available to eligible farm-related and nonfarm-related entities that suffered financial losses as a direct result of this disaster. Apart from aquaculture enterprises, SBA cannot provide disaster loans to agricultural producers, farmers, and ranchers.

The loan amount can be up to $2 million with interest rates of 4% for small businesses and 2.375% for private nonprofit organizations, with terms up to 30 years. These working capital loans may be used to pay fixed debts, payroll, accounts payable, and other bills that could have been paid had the disaster not occurred. The loans are not intended to replace lost sales or profits. Applicants may apply online using the Electronic Loan Application via the secure website at https://disasterloanassistance.sba.gov/ela/s/ and should apply under SBA declaration #18031. HRCU announced the winners of its 2023 HRCU Annual Scholarship Program. The credit union gave thirteen outstanding area students a total of $13,000 in scholarship awards. Each year, this program recognizes members of HRCU who are pursuing higher education as either full- or part-time students. HRCU has awarded 264 scholarships worth more than $266,000 since the program's inception in 1996.

may also be obtained by calling the customer service center at 1-800-659-2955 (to access telecommunications relay services, dial 7-1-1), or emailing disastercustomerservice@sba. gov. Loan applications can also be downloaded from www.sba. gov/disaster. Completed applications should be mailed to: U.S. Small Business Administration, Processing and Disbursement Center, 14925 Kingsport Road, Fort Worth, TX 76155. Submit completed loan applications no later than March 25, 2024.

"Each year we receive applications from many deserving young members and it is always a challenge for our scholarship committee to make the selections among such impressive students," said Brian Hughes, president and CEO of HRCU. "We have no doubt this year's award recipients have bright futures ahead of them, and we are proud that HRCU can play a role in their education."

HRCU was honored to award scholarships to the following exceptional students: Anilise Brooks, Dover High School, University of New Hampshire; Haley Faucher, Spaulding High School, University of New Hampshire; Sebastian Gannon, St. Thomas Aquinas High School Emory University; Theo Grandmaison, Somersworth High School, Gordon College; Timothy Grosky, Spaulding High School, University of New Hampshire; Rhegan Hart, Spaulding High School, University of New Hampshire; Ryan Hilliard, Somersworth High School, University of New Hampshire; Emalie Johnson, Spaulding High School, University of New Hampshire; Anderson Pickard, Berwick Academy, Rice University; Jadyn Stevens, Spaulding High School, University of New England; and Jennalyn Williamson, Spaulding High School, Syracuse University.

This year, HRCU added a new scholarship award for the children of employees. The 2023 recipients were Samantha Dunton and Colin Bissonnette, who were each awarded $1,000. Dunton is the daughter of Carlynne Pouliot, AVP of Financial Services. She graduated from Coe Brown High School and will attend Colby-Sawyer College in the fall. Bissonnette is the son of Travis Bissonnette, SVP of Lending. He is a 2023 Spaulding High School graduate and will attend the University of New England. Gibb Elected President of the Chase Home Board of Directors

Center for Asthma, Allergy &

Respiratory Disease Adds Staff

PORTSMOUTH -

A semi-retired corporate executive, Portsmouth resident Brian Gibb has been elected president of the board of directors at the Chase Home in Portsmouth.

"As I transition from my career as a corporate executive, I am seeking ways to 'give back' through volunteering to serve Portsmouth and the seacoast community," Gibb said.

Most recently, Gibb served as CEO in the healthcare industry, an experience he said has led him to become even more interested in causes that better humanity.

"I have also been fortunate to have a very satisfying career with leadership positions that have helped me learn about service offerings, finances, marketing, business development, and strategic planning," he added.

Noting that he joined the Chase Home board in May 2022, Gibb said he looks forward to growing and diversifying the board while leveraging its currently strong fiscal position to evolve and broaden the Chase Home's programs. To learn more, visit www.chasehome.org.

Nonprofit 'Stepping Up' with Holiday Help

has provided financial assistance and other support to more than 500 families caring for children whose parents are struggling with substance use disorder. Now, the Portsmouth-based nonprofit is once again stepping up to lend a hand, delivering a $50 Walmart gift card to every family it served in 2023 – just in time for the holidays.

"Sometimes it's the little gestures that mean the most to these families. Especially this time of year," said Denyse Richter, founder and executive director of Step Up Parents. "They're so appreciative for being remembered. If they can buy a few more presents for the children in their care, that can make a huge difference."

Launched in 2019, the orga-Since 2019, Step Up Parents nization's gift-card program has generated more than $27,000 for caregiver families - many of which are taking on a significant financial burden.

> "For a lot of these kids, the holiday season can be a very difficult time without their biological parents," said Richter, who was inspired to start the organization after seeing close personal friends struggle to raise their grandchild while caring for a daughter suffering from substance use disorder. "There can be additional stress for the caregivers as well. This is all about sparking a little cheer, creating fond memories, and providing a sense of peace."

> This year's sponsors include Service Credit Union (SCU) in Portsmouth, Bangor

Savings Bank in Portsmouth, Meredith Village Savings Bank in Portsmouth and Rochester, NH Trust, Lexi Leddi Real Estate, and St. Mary's Bank. Looking ahead, Richter says Step Up Parents is poised to make an even bigger impact in 2024—and that these partnerships are key to that endeavor.

"We're so grateful to our sponsors for making this all possible, "Richter said. "Sadly, the epidemic of substance use disorder is only growing, which means services like ours are needed more than ever. Whether it's sponsoring our holiday gift card program or making a small monthly donation, every little bit helps these families."

Seacoast Cancer 5K Raises $300K for Cancer Center

DOVER -

The Seacoast Cancer 5K celebrated its 10th annual event in style, raising more than $324,165 for the Mass General Cancer Center at Wentworth-Douglass Hospital. More than 1,800 runners and walkers participated in the race, which was held in late September. Jacob Dowman and Nicole Toye were the top male and female finishers, respectively.

The event also recognized two employees personally impacted by cancer. Becky Sherburne, Wentworth-Douglass' director of inpatient services, was named "honorary patient." Her daughter Kendra, who is also a nurse at the hospital, founded the year's top fundraising team. "Team BS" raised more than $25,800, and has raised more than $80,000 for the cancer center over the last three years.

The funds raised are critical to underwrite the cancer center's supportive and wellness services, which offer integrative therapies and support that are often not covered by insurance. The program includes acupuncture,

Reiki, massage therapy and exercise classes, as well as physical therapy, occupational therapy, and speech-language pathology. The program also allows patients to meet with oncology social workers, nutritionists, and patient navigators, as well as supporting basic needs for those who cannot afford transportation, gas cards, groceries, or other necessities during treatment

New Certified Therapy Dog at Cornerstone VNA

ROCHESTER -

Maureen E. Steer MDiv, Holistic Disciplines Manager at Cornerstone VNA, is proud to share that her beloved Australian Shepherd, Lucy, has recently achieved certification as a therapy dog. Lucy's training was comprehensive, and she graduated with great reports. Starting as a puppy, she trained for over a year and became certified as a K-9 Good Citizen by Inspire K-9 in Barnstead. She was officially certified as a therapy dog by Love on a Leash, a national program.

According to Love on a Leash, "A therapy pet is trained and certified with its owner as a team to provide comfort and stress relief to others in a variety of situations."

Lucy will now be lending her compassionate presence and unwavering support to hospice patients. Moreover, she will play a special role in bereavement sessions and group grief support meetings, offering comfort and solace to those in need. Cornerstone VNA is proud of the response they've received from this wonderful volunteer duo of Maureen and Lucy.

Katherine Michaud MS, OTR/L, Cornerstone VNA

Behavioral Health Coordinator explains, "Pet therapy dogs provide comfort, encourage communication, decrease stress, and reduce loneliness. A visit from a dog can really brighten someone's day."

The pet companion volunteer opportunity is a way to provide support and friendship to patients and community members. For more information about the team, contact Ann Vennard at 603-994-6941 or avennard@ cornerstonevna.org.

Report About Lead in Water at Schools, Child Care Facilities

STATEWIDE -

Under New Hampshire's "Get The Lead Out of Drinking Water" program, all K-12 schools and licensed child care facilities must test all drinking water outlets available for consumption by children, including drinking fountains, classroom sinks, and kitchen sinks. A revision to the state law in July 2022 lowered the action level for this program from 15 parts per billion (ppb) to 5 ppb, and changed the timing of the testing such that three rounds must be completed by June 30, 2024. The New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (NHDES) has released a report on the first of three rounds of lead in drinking water testing at New Hampshire K-12 schools and licensed child care facilities.

During the first round of testing, sample results from more than 23,000 drinking water outlets from 625 schools and 594 licensed child care facilities were processed. Results show that one out of five child care facilities and three out of five schools had at least one drinking water outlet that tested at or above the 5 ppb action level. Overall, 14% of all water outlets sampled had a result at or above the 5 ppb action level, 25% had a result between 1 and 5 ppb, and 61% showed no lead detected.

Lead does not occur naturally in New Hampshire's drinking water sources, but can enter drinking water due to the wearing away of piping, plumbing fixtures, or solder. Lead is harmful to humans and animals, causing health problems from high blood pressure to nervous system disorders. Children under the age of 6, including unborn babies, are the most at risk because their growing bodies absorb more lead than adults' bodies.

Facilities must remediate, eliminate, or reduce lead levels at all drinking water outlets that test at or above 5 ppb. Remediation information was collected for 92% of drinking water outlets that require remediation. The most common methods of remediation were permanently removing the water outlet from service, posting "no drinking" or "hand wash only" signage (51%), or replacing the outlet with a new fixture (16%).

The "New Hampshire Lead in School and Child Care Drinking Water Findings from Round 1 of Testing and Remediation (2016-2023)", found at www.des.nh.gov/sites/g/files/ ehbemt341/files/documents/ glo-round1-data-brief.pdf, provides a summary of the sampling results since a 2018 law was passed that required the testing. This is the first of three data briefs to be issued once those additional sampling rounds are completed. The most up-to-date test results and remediation information are available at www. des.nh.gov/water/drinking-water/lead/schools-and-child-careprograms/view-results.

Facilities that have not started their "Round 2" sampling must do so as soon as possible to make the deadline for completing the required three rounds of sampling by June 30, 2024. Select "Enroll in the Program" at www.gettheleadoutnh.org, which is free for all child cares and public schools.

To support schools and child care facilities in meeting the testing and remediation requirements, the "Get the Lead Out of Drinking Water" program provides resources and technical support during normal business hours at info@gettheleadoutnh.org and 603-506-6469. Funding for the program is provided by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act and includes free testing for all child care facilities and public schools. In addition, the New Hampshire Drinking Water and Groundwater Trust Fund has awarded $1.6 million for remediation grants for public and private schools, and is working with NH Department of Health and Human Services (NH DHHS) to establish a grant program for child care facilities. Information about the remediation grant is posted at www.des. nh.gov/water/drinking-water/ lead/schools-and-child-careprograms/available-funding.

NHDES is also collaborating with multiple state agencies, including the DHHS, the Department of Education, and an extensive network of stakeholders to raise awareness about lead exposure in children, and to encourage water testing and remediation.

For more information, call 603-506-6469 or email info@gettheleadoutnh.org.

The 13th Annual King Challenge bike ride, a muchmarkable resilience in the face of challenging weather conditions. The King Challenge, created in 2011 by Ted King and Arlon Chaffee, has always been a symbol of unity and generosity. The event features three scenic routes starting and ending at Timberland's Stratham, NH campus, offering 10-, 30-, and 60-mile options to accommodate riders of all abilities. While the weather may have been cold and rainy, the spirit of camaraderie and the collective goal of supporting brain injury survivors remained undiminished, and most riders opted to do the 30mile option.

and volunteer activities. Each winner was nominated by their hospital peers.

Among the Awards of Distinction presented to the employees were three Frist Humanitarian Awards to: (Physician) Caroline Scoones, MD, of Portsmouth, as chief of staff of Women & Children's Services; (Employee) Mark Mailloux, of Kittery Point, ME, as director of Outpatient Therapy & Occupational Health; (Volunteer) Jillian Richmond, of Portsmouth, as a high school volunteer assistant. The award was created in 1971 to honor outstanding individuals for the highest standards of quality and personal commitment.

"These employees represent the best of the best at Portsmouth Regional Hospital," said Dean M. Carucci, market president of HCA New England Healthcare, and CEO of PRH. "Being nominated by their peers is a testament to their commitment to care for their communities, as well as their leadership and teamwork. They all have made outstanding contributions to improving the patient experience, and we're proud to have them on our team."

Additional awards of distinction given out include: Inanticipated fundraiser for the David Krempels Brain Injury Center (KBIC), defied the odds and overcame inclement weather conditions, with more than 100 dedicated riders participating in this year's event in October. The event underscored the community's steadfast dedication to the cause, demonstrating renovator of the Year to Amy Lester, of Durham, as Director of Volunteer Services; Nursing Excellence, Compassionate Care to Graham Phelps, RN, of Durham, in the Intensive Care Unit; Nursing Excellence, Professional Mentoring to Donna Marie Everett, RN, of Dover, in Case Management; Colleague of the Year to Rebecca Cain, RN, of Dover, as a Stroke Coordinator and Nursing Support Specialist; and Nurse of the Year to Chelsie Portlock, RN, of Hampton, in Surgical Services. The event managed to raise almost $85,000 toward its $125,000 goal. Anyone can continue to give at www. pledgereg.com/king-challenge to help reach their goal!

The King Challenge continues to exemplify the enduring spirit of community and support for KBIC, which is dedicated to improving the quality of life for individuals living with acquired brain injuries. For more information, visit www.kingchallenge.org and www.kbicenter.org.

$2.9M Awarded to Resilient Tidal Crossings Project

SEACOAST -

The New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (NHDES) announced recently that the Governor and Executive Council approved $2,876,442 of grant funding from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) that will enable the New Hampshire Department of Transportation (NHDOT) to replace three undersized tidal culverts on state roads in the towns of Stratham and Rye. The construction below is planned for 2025:

For NH Route 1A at Awcomin Salt Marsh, Rye Harbor, Rye. Route 1A is a vital northsouth transportation corridor on the immediate coast and is the primary access to New Hampshire's most popular beaches, tourist amenities, active working waterfronts, as well as tourist lodging, local businesses, and residential neighborhoods. The selected alternative at Route 1A at Rye Harbor will replace the existing 3.5 ft. wide x 7 ft. high granite block culvert with a 15 ft. wide x 7 ft. high, three-sided concrete box on footings.

For Squamscott Road at Chapman's Landing Salt Marsh, Stratham. Squamscott Road is a local connector between Route 33 and Route 108 in Stratham. Within a 0.3 mile segment, Squamscott Road crosses three separate wetland tributaries of the Chapman's Landing Salt Marsh. The project will restore tidal wetlands by replacing two tidal culverts along Squamscott Road as part of a single construction project. At each site, the existing 18-inch round pipes will be replaced with 8 ft. wide x 7 ft. high concrete box culverts.

The selected projects were identified by the NH Resilient Tidal Crossings Project as the highest priority tidal crossings for replacement based on a coast-wide field assessment and prioritization process that evaluated 120 tidal stream crossings in 2018 for ecosystem compatibility, flood resilience, and structure condition.

A tidal crossing is a culvert, bridge, or tide gate associated with a road or other form of crossing infrastructure that conveys tidal flow or is located at the head of tide. There are relatively few tidal crossings in the state when compared to the estimated 21,000 freshwater crossings, but they play a critical role for the ecological integrity of aquatic systems. These crossings often restrict tidal flows which alters hydrology, sediment movement, salinity, and plant species composition of tidal marshes. Tidal restrictions ultimately affect the ability for salt marsh systems to build in elevation and migrate upstream with rising sea levels. Tidal crossings can also block migratory fish from accessing critical upstream habitats. From a community resiliency perspective, tidal crossings are necessary to safely and reliably convey people, goods and services throughout coastal communities; however, this infrastructure is increasingly at risk from flooding and erosion with rising sea levels and more frequent and intense storm events.

In 2019, a unique partnership between NHDES Coastal Program and NHDOT was initiated and facilitated by The Nature Conservancy (TNC) to advance a "pipeline" of high priority culvert replacement projects. With grant funding from the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation - National Coastal Resilience Fund and NOAA, the team worked with engineering consultant CMA Engineers to conduct alternative analysis, design, engineering, and permitting at three of the highest priority state-owned tidal crossing sites. The tidal culvert design process followed the "New Hampshire Coastal Flood Risk Summary, Part II: Guidance for Using Scientific Projections" and adhered to new NHDES permitting rules that are specific to tidal culvert replacement.

"By considering the [guidance] early in the planning process, the projects incorporated coastal resilience principals into

Hot Sauce Festival Raises $12K+ for Non-Profits

HAMPTON -Despite the threat of storms, the fiery spirit of the 2nd annual New England Hot Sauce Fest, presented by The Spicy Shark, prevailed with mostly clear skies this summer at Smuttynose Brewery in Hampton. Raising a remarkable $12,274 for two seacoast organizations dedicated to preserving oceanic ecosystems and education, the festival drew crowds upwards of 2,400 people. Over 35 hot sauce companies showcased their spiciest products while attendees savored diverse culinary creations.

A heart-pounding highlight was the Pepper-X Duel Chip Challenge, featuring five hot sauce celebrities locked in a spicy showdown. Kris Fragale (AKA The Scoville Unit) set a new world record by devouring 163 Pepper X Duel Chips in one hour. These chips, fueled by the world's hottest pepper, Pepper X, left everyone astonished at their audacious heat.

The majority of proceeds were donated to Blue Ocean Society and the Seacoast Science Center: Blue Ocean Society for Marine Conservation is a Portsmouth-based nonprofit organization that works to protect marine life in the Gulf of Maine; Seacoast Science Center is a non-profit coastal and marine science education institution located in Odiorne Point State Park in Rye.

"We're so grateful to have been a part of this hugely successful event," said Jen Kennedy, Blue Ocean Society executive director. "As we have learned all too well in recent years, a healthy ocean is important for us all to thrive."
